

Sinclair Broadcasting's attempt to force its stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and it is thus obligated by law to serve the public interest. Sinclair's action is not in the public interest. It is a shameful abuse of the right it has been granted to use a public resource. Perhaps that right should be revoked.